Aqua Queen

Son, Robert and Tall Spikes of Aqua Queen ready for wholesale market

DEAR FRIENDS:

We sincerely thank all our customers for their business in past years and again look forward for the opportunity of serving you. Our acreage this past season was the largest ever in our 37 years of growing glads and our list this winter our largest and most complete. We feel we have many fine new varieties that can win many ribbons for the show man. Many of these, only introduced last season, have already compiled fine records. For the commercial grower there are some thoroughly tested and proven new glads that are sure to replace older ones and others that will fill gaps in your color needs. You will also find many unusual and new colors that are ideal for the grower who sells his flowers on roadside stands or home bouquets and other retail uses. If you have never ordered from us, may we suggest a trial order. Each season we receive many testimonials and fine letters on the satisfactory performance of our bulbs and firmly believe they will satisfy the most critical buyer.

We would like to take this opportunity to wish everyone a wonderful Glad season in 1961.

Sincerely,

GEO. SR. & GEO. JR.

LADY LOVE

(462 Himmler-Melk) (90)

For our first introduction in several years we have selected a fine new lavender that will have to compete with other fine lavenders introduced the past few seasons. However, we feel Lady Love has many fine qualities of its own and is capable of moving in among the best. The smooth velvety tones of orchid lavender blend only slightly deeper from the outer edge of the petals to the deepest point in the center of the floret. There are no white throat markings. The buds in color hold the same deep tones as the open florets, and as they begin to open, remind one of partially open roses. The pure green color of the stem and calyx, lacking in many lavenders, adds to the beauty. We believe the smoothness and solidity of the color, further enhanced by the fresh contrast of orchid and pure green will give Lady Love much appeal among the most critical of Gladiolus fanciers and cut-flower growers.

Lady Love has not been shown extensively but has won easily when exhibited including an American Home Award and a 3 spike seedling Champ in tough competition at Garfield Park. However, we feel its true value lies in its ability to produce a high percentage of good spikes and its popular florist color.

The spikes of Lady Love grow tall and straight. We had many 5 ft. spikes from medium sized bulbs. Flowerhead is well balanced opening 8-9 florets about 5 in. across with about 6 more showing color on an overall spike of 22-24 buds. Lady Love has robust growing habits and makes oodles of bulblets that germinate excellent and grow to good size.

Opening in water is another important quality. Lady Love will open to the very tip and keep its color much farther up the head than most glads.

We sincerely hope many growers will give Lady Love a trial in their 1961 planting, for it can win blue ribbons for you at the shows and also be a profitable addition to your cutflower stock.

Martina

(454 H & H Vincent) (75)

This early flowering rose glad first attracted our attention at a Wisconsin seedling show in 1959 when a single spike was shown by Mr. Vincent Martina, a seedling of Edgewood and Traveller is a medium rose with a silvery sheen that seems to light up under artificial light, making it ideal for florist use or in the home.

The 5 in. florets are nicely ruffled, opening about 8 with 6 additional buds showing color on a god sized spike of 21 or more buds. Placement is near perfect giving it a good chance to win at the shows.

Martina opens exceptionally well in water, making it ideal for cutting in bud. We grew some stock of Martina this past season and find it makes lots of large bulblets that grow very strong and make good sized bulbs the first year.

The foliage is dark green. Its earliness makes Martina ideal for that early flower market when Glads usually sell for a premium. A trial lot of Martina could prove to be a good investment, both as a commercial or a show flower.

From Ted Woods

We stopped in at Ted's place later in the season and we were really impressed with a row of Forward. It grew extremely tall and vigorous. The bulblets also grew tall and strong. We took a few spikes of Forward along home and found they opened to the tip in water without becoming at all limp.

ORIGINATORS DESCRIPTIONS

Regal Rose (455) (80 days)

New and beautiful color in the rose class. The most colorful Glad I have seen and rather difficult to describe. The nearest comparable color is Begonia rose or medium Neyron rose. Regal Rose has withstood the test of time and feel it worthy of introduction. Deep green upright foliage, 58 inch spike over 30 inch flower head, 22 - 24 buds held tight to its willow stem. Holds 9 or more open with 7 showing color. Floret texture extra heavy, frilled and rolled back. Health, bulblet production and germination excellent. A must for the hobbyist and commercial use.

Forward (400) (90 days)

A tower of strength and beauty is this pure white flower with its 60 inch consistently good spike and 24 buds with perfect formal placement on a 28 inch flower head making it outstanding for commercial and exhibition. Extra heavy textured 5 inch florets are ruffled, recurved and fluted with raised midribs and firmly attached. Opens 8 with 8 more showing color. Health and germination excellent, foliage deep green and upright. Forward has a 32 inch stem most convenient for cutting.

Patti Pickens (335) (80 days)

Deep salmon pink blending lighter towards center. The two lower petals are medium yellow extending to the tips which are salmon pink and recurved to needle-point. The 4 inch florets are heavily ruffled and heavy textured. Placement and facing are extremely good. Straight strong spike of 58 inches, 20-22 buds on a 30 inch flower head with 9 or more open and 5 in color. Performance always reliable. Health and bulblet production the best. Patti Pickens is very showy, a fine commercial and exhibition variety.

AQUA QUEEN (470 Fisher) (80) For quite a number of years many commercial bulb growers have been looking for a healthy blue glad that could be grown in quantity and at a profit. Aqua Queen makes fine bulbs, and plenty of good sized bulblets that germinate easy and grow into good sized bulbs the first year. It's no trick to grow large bulbs for bulb sales. For a medium clear blue cutflower Aqua Queen is hard to beat. The color is not too dark for commercial use, the petals have that crisp silky look lacking in most blues. The foliage is dark green and the spikes are tall and easy to cut. It is quite early and also does well throughout the season. A fine commercial in every way. Mr. Fisher has given the commercial growers many fine cutflowers, but we believe it has been quite a while since there has been as much of an improvement in any one color as Aqua Queen is in blue.

CONRAD (417 Tyndall) (90) Conrad has rapidly become one of the top cutflower varieties. The color is a deep yellow with a red blotch. A very clean color that is in demand throughout the season and especially in fall. Grows very tall and uniform with a hard stem and a short plant making it easy to cut. Smaller bulbs also make fine usable spikes, makes lots of bulblets that grow strong into good sized bulbs. Conrad does not need good ground and plenty water to be at its best. Rather it does well on most any type of ground and we have had fine tall spikes even in dry seasons without irrigation. This fine dependable cutflower is a must for the commercial grower.

GIZ SHAW (424 Hecht) (85) This is one of the tallest and strongest growing varieties on our list. The color is similar to Orange Gold, perhaps a bit lighter orange with a slightly larger yellow throat. The 5 inch florets are nicely ruffled and fluted. Substance is good. This looks like a real commercial variety as it also makes extra fine bulbs. Makes only a fair amount of bulblets but they grow strong and make good sized bulbs. Also we expect Giz Shaw to win many top honors in the orange class.

ROSE SPIRE (454 Fischer) (75) Rose Spire certainly is one of the finest glads available for commercial use. Very few glads are as beautiful, as dependable and as usable. The color, a really beautiful clean light rose bending to a near white clean throat, leaves nothing to be desired for commercial use. Placement and bud spacing on the spike usually near perfect. Florets have good attachment. The spikes grow uniformly tall with a minimum of moisture, thereby cutting the cost of growing. Opens 8-10 florets at one time. Truly a bouquet in itself, yet the spike bends gracefully when used in an arrangement. The stems are strong and firm, yet not heavy or bulky, making it ideal for shipping, one of the easiest varieties to cut. The bulbs are extra fine and is a good propagator. WHOLESALE SECTION

TO OUR COMMERCIAL GROWER FRIENDS:

This is our 37th year of growing Glads, and again we are featuring the better proven varieties, plus a limited number of the most promising new varieties in the various color and size classes. A number of these recent introductions are extra fine and in time could become some of the good old dependable varieties of the future. We make an honest effort to describe all varieties accurately as they grow for us and our descriptions are based on how the variety averages rather than on an occasional outstanding spike of the variety. However, growing habits and also the color of some glads will sometimes vary when grown in the various types of soil or under different growing conditions. The only sure way of knowing exactly how a glad will grow for you is to try a limited amount of a promising new variety on your soil and under your growing conditions. It might be a little extra trouble for you to plant 25 or 100 of a new variety but then you will know how well it does for you at a minimum cost before investing in larger amounts unwisely. It definitely does pay for a commercial grower to get an early start in a good new glad that will do good for you. This makes it possible to start using the variety before the best years of its life have gone by and also it can help your bulb or cutflower business if you are among the first to offer a good new glad in quantity to your customers.
